It is also charged that the present system opens the way to the perpetration of all kinds of fraud—that, in fact, it invites it, and that every day the danger becomes greater; that instead of serving the purposes for which it was created it will form into a big political machine, with abundant patronage to dispense, to the injury of the State and the detriment of the insane pattents.

As matera, stand now no institution can purchase as much as a penholder without first, obtaining the consent of the Luinacy Commission. It is feared that even on question of food, the patients will ultimately suffer. Even now the use of tobacco is forbidden in every institution, although it is claimed that in some cases tobacco is needful.

"When the Lunacy Commission began an investigation of the Poughkeepsie Institute," said Dr. George R. Shrady to an "Evening World" reporter this morning, "I then saw that the time was not far distant when the Lunacy Commissioners themselves would have to be investigated. It has come to that now, "The Boards of Managers of all the State institutions are representative men, who do not draw one dollar of salary. They accepted the trust because of their desire to help the unfortunate insane. Their wishes should at least receive some consideration, but they get none.

These institutions are now being placed "These institutions are now being placed upon the same plane as prisons, and on account of their desire to pose as economists, the Lunacy Commission is opening the doors to and inviting extravagance if nothing worse.

"The result is that the present law gives the Lunacy Commission autocratic powers, and it purchases everything for all the institutions. It must be compelled to keep its hands off the Board of Managers, which is composed of honorable men, who are right on the ground to look out for emergencies.

"The Lunacy Commission is bidding for the rankest kind of competition. It has put us on a par with the prisons, and we can purchase nothing.

entors of the police under the present system, or rather the want of a system, crime must continue to increase; children will witness degrading spectacles of drunken men and women dragged or wheeled through the streets, all because officials fight among themselves.

An "Evening World" reporter has put Commissioner Martin squarely on record. No one knows better than the President of the Police Board the absolute need of a complete police signal system and pairol wagon service. He has admitted its necessity, as well as the other Commissioners, and says he fought hard to have the system introduced.

"The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has ten working days in which to dispose of the final estimate. In that time, Commissioner Martin, what do you propose to do regarding a police signal system and patrol wagon service?" asked the reporter yesterday afternoon.

"No, decidedly not. The matter has gone over—that's all. There is nothing that we can do to revive it now."
"V. en do you intend to revive it?" asked the reporter. "When do you intend making any move looking to the adoption of that system?"
"I do not know, replied the Commissioner. "Under ordinary circumstances we have only the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to look to for the money, and we cannot go before it again for another year. Of course, we have always the Legislature to go to. Which course we shall pursue I cannot state now."

derer Affirmed. ALBANY, Dec. 12.—The Court of Appeals has affirmed the conviction of Matthew Johnson, sentenced to death for murder in the first degree.

Matthew Johnson, who is a wiry West indian negro, brutally murdered Engineer Emil Kuckelbern in the enginersoom of the Thomas & Wylle Co.'s lithographing establishment, 132 and 134 West Twenty-fourth street, this city, on Dec. 10, 1832.

The murdered man's body bore twenty-five wounds, and near it was found four bloody weapons, a big wrench, a boit and two hand-saws. From cuts on the victim's waist it was evident hat Johnson intended to cut the body up with the saws and to burn it in the furnace to destroy all evidence of the crime.

The murderer's motive is believed to have been revence, for he blamed Kuckelborn for his discharge from the employ of Thomas & Wyle as a porter. A pair of blood-stained trousers stolen from the lithographing shop and found in his room led to his detection.

Johnson was convicted of murder in the first degree on April 22, 1836, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, and sentenced by Justice Ingraham to die during the week of June 12 last. His case was then appealed.
